Additional Statement

Throughout my career, I have demonstrated consistency and perseverance, working as a dental hygienist for over 15 years while recently taking on the challenge of a full-time programming bootcamp alongside my current job.

This journey shows my ability to stay committed, learn new skills, and adapt to new fields.

My interest in web development began when I realized, through my work in dental care, that leveraging digital tools could significantly improve efficiency and patient communication. I often thought that better systems could help both patients and medical staff by simplifying complex processes and improving clarity. This inspired me to learn how to create such solutions myself.

I'm now excited to apply my growing web development skills in a collaborative environment, build real-world solutions, and continue learning as a professional developer.
